What To Expect At The Interview

What to expect at the Interview
Interviews for the Faculty of Engineering Admission Scheme (FEAS) will be conducted during a 15-minute time-slot by one or two members of the Faculty’s Academic Staff.

The interview is an exchange of information. The FEAS process is intended to offer candidates who might not have achieved a high entrance rank the opportunity to show that they will be particularly suited to engineering and worthy of special consideration as a consequence. UNSW will endeavour to find out what your interests are, what your study and work habits are, whether you are able to talk convincingly about yourself, and what extra-curricular interests you might have.

You may be interested in asking about study and careers in your chosen field, about university life and work, and about the UAC and FEAS processes.
